Aidon Oy has acquired Mitello to support distribution network companies' measurement and network maintenance operations from Polarmit Oy. Aidon's strategy is to produce and develop smart metering technology and services to support the digitalization processes of distribution network companies. Mitello expands and strengthens Aidon's service offering field tools related to remote reading systems and distribution network maintenance and management.

As a result of the transaction, Miton Customer Agreements and the production and support of the Mitello service business will be transferred to Aidon. Jukka Heikinheimo, Managing Director of Polarmit Oy, will continue as part of Mitello's customer relationship management and support roles within Aidon's service team. Other business operations of Polarmit Oy remain unchanged.

At the heart of Mitello's and Aidon's solutions is a flexible and long-term approach to developing them in partnership with clients for their business needs. "We believe that this is a sustainable way to develop the United Service Portfolio from now on".
